

Maude Edith Moore Mauk

Maude Edith Moore Mauk was born July 5, 1917 to John Henry and Cora Young Moore in the community of Liberty Hill. She is preceded in death by her parents; her husband, Roy N. Mauk; brothers, Jams Nolan Moore, Rayford H. Moore, Paul L. Moore, Frank H. Moore; sisters, Willie Lee Moore and Mozelle Moore McLeod; nephew, Frank H. Moore, Jr.; and grandson, Stacy L. Haase. She is survived by her daughter, Susan Mauk Haase and husband, Bob of Liberty Hill; grandchildren, Erin Haase of Houston, Nathan Haase and wife, Marion of Houston, Cary Haase and wife, Vida of Detroit, Michigan, Jamie Johnson of Grapeland; seven great-grandchildren; and two great-great-grandchildren; numerous nieces and nephews whom all held a very special place in her heart.

Edith attended schools in Liberty Hill, Glover and Grapeland. She left home to work in Waco where she met her future husband, Roy N. Mauk of Oklahoma. They married in Austin in November of 1943 and began a life of travel compliments of the U.S. Army. As a child she always wanted "to go" whenever the opportunity arose and now she was traveling constantly. Edith and Roy were married for 60 years, their travels took them to Georgia, Arizona, France, Germany, Italy, Spain Switzerland, Belgium, Austria and Panama. Even after Roy's career in the U.S. Army was over they continued to move, in retirement to Texas they lived in Huntsville, Houston, San Antonio, New Braunfels, Rockport and Galveston.

Edith was a devoted daughter, wife, mother and grandmother. Her family was most important to her above all else. She loved Liberty Hill and her family here and was always ready to come home to visit. She was very happy to be able to move back to the land where she was raised in October of 2004.

Edith's family would like to thank the people at the Houston County Nursing home for the loving care she received and the continuous care and support they showed to her family. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Liberty Hill United Methodist Church or to the Augusta Cemetery Association.