

Frank James Robinson
June 24, 1932 – Jan. 15, 2010

On the Jan. 15 our friend and colleague, Frank James Robinson passed away. Robinson was Crockett's very own legendary Blues Man.

Robinson was a definite link in the long chain of Texas Blues History. He played with Lightnin' Hopkins, Frankie Lee Sims and many of the greats.

He experienced a "resurgence" of playing over the past few years. Along with the Gillette Brothers, they played and preached about the blues, folk and cowboy music to every school and sidewalk in Houston County.

Frank paid his dues to play the blues, he will be missed.
